

Why enhance the value of your data?

Because actionable knowledge is crucial to improve performance.

A common problem

Data constitute a limitless source of knowledge. Unfortunately, in most organizations, this source of insight remains largely untapped. Consequently, decision makers do not have access to crucial information. Are you amongst those who could use better information for decision-making?

Typical causes

Organizations are frequently data-rich and information-poor due to the following reasons:

- Poor reliability of data
- Inadequate data classification and integration
- Lack of useful data and not enough analysis
- Lack of expert Data Mining help

This is why too many strategic and operating decisions are made “by gut feeling”, that is, without due evaluation of factual information. Unfortunately, experience and business instinct cannot reveal concealed or non-intuitive truths; only rigorous data mining can shed light on unusual patterns or behaviors.

Do you control your business environment?

Every company has weaknesses. Some companies cannot foresee competitive threats. Others have problems identifying needs by customer segment, or develop key intellectual competencies, or prevent operational failures, or predict sales. One cannot lead without a fairly good feel for the pulse of the organization and without a clear sight of its future.

Key insights can be acquired by analyzing easily accessible data. And the knowledge is crucial to improve decision-making and results. Axone’s original and cost-effective “intelligence” services target true needs and deliver real benefits quickly.

Axone's In-process Business Intelligence

More and more firms implement BI capabilities to measure the success of their products and services and the effectiveness of their marketing campaigns. Unfortunately, the standard BI does not reveal the deepest customer values and motivations and it does not tell us why consumers behave like they do. Axone's expert Data Mining services go beyond exposing results. They highlight the causes and the improvement opportunities. This allows for proactive and profitable decisions. This is BI 2.0, and it can go as far as In-process Business Intelligence.

Our original offer

Axone's differentiated BI service genuinely helps decision makers. We promote small-scale testing of initiatives aimed at increasing sales and boosting net profits. Predictive analytics provide insight on the future of your industry.
